Alexandria Gazette

TUESDAY EVENING, JUNE 11, 1878.

Troubles of a Silver King. An acquaintance of Senator Jones, of Nevada, tells me that the silver Senator is in great financial embarrassment; that he has lost everything, and has no income except his salary as a Senator. To use my informant's expressive language, "Jones bucked against Sharon and was busted." It seems that Sharon cornered Jenes in certain Pacific Slope speculations, and the great American absentee was too much for Jones. Sharon had the advantage of being on the spot, while Jones labored under the disadvantage of being here attending to his business. In addition to this, Jones went into the manufacture of artificial ice in New Orleans and Galveston. He dropped $9,000 in New Orleans and $12,000 in Galveston. These loss ess came recently, when he has been in no condition to bear them. Jones was believed to have immense silver mining interests in Nevada; and when, during the silver debate, he solemnly declared that he had not a dollar's worth of such interest, many people were startled and staggered. There is probably now nobody who doubts that statement. When Jones came here he opened in handsome style took General Butler's granito palace on Capitol Hill, furnished it in elegance and gave sumptuous entertainments. Until within a year, it is said that his living has cost him $65,000 per annum. That is a great deal of money, and I am inclined to think it is too much, but these are the figures as they are talked about. Of late Senator Jones has been very much pinched for resources and pressed by small creditors. His attractive wife has gone home, and he is living in much quieter style. I am informed, but can-not vouch for the statement, that it is not long since he told a creditor to take his piano, which cost $3,000, as security for a debt of $200 or $400. This was told me as illustrating at once the changed fortune and the scrupulous honesty of a man whose millions we thought to be without end. Senator Jones has made many friends here, and his embarrassment is spoken of in tones of sincere commiseration. Pernaps no man better than he illustrates the ups and downs of the far west. — Washington Correspondence of the Philadelphia North American
